AMANDINE CHHOR
& AÏSSA LOGEROT

Amandine Chhor (born in 1983) and Aïssa Logerot (born in 1981) are both graduates of Ensci Les Ateliers ; they have been collaborating for over two years on projects that aim to sustain crafts in developing countries. They also work individually, Amandine in the R&D department of Hermès, and Aïssa as an independent designer.

« As we are complementary in our work and share the same idea on design, we have worked on a range of tables for Petite Friture, initially thought for crafts, and today re-adapted to be produced in series. »

TRAME...

ACCORDING TO ITS DESIGNERS :

« A frame that stretches along two main tracks, coming together to create the seat and back. Taking its place in both interior and exterior the Trame chair plays with opposites of lines and tensions on curves, all in softness, the perception of comfort on a light structure, an air like appearance for a solid chair. »

Amandine Chhor and Aïssa Logerot sign a new creation for Petite Friture : a chair with a light and enveloping aspect, that associates curves and rhythms to combine comfort and strength. The epoxy grained paint allows an outdoor or indoor use. A cushion can be added for indoor use.
