POOL

POOL is a duo composed of Léa Padovani (1981) french of Iranian-Italian heritage and Sébastien Kieffer (1982), french, based in Paris. In 2010, POOL create a collective concept, whose goal is to explore associations between objects, architecture and images. Beyond the obvious presence of an object, its beauty and function, the designers search for a multiplicity of meanings and highlight the emotions and reference points. In 2012 they were nominated «Talents à la carte» during Maison&Objet, «Young New Talent» for the price AD and received the «LABEL VIA» for the W&W lighting ceiling system manufactured by ALTER. They have since been edited by La Chance, Habitat and have created numerous scographies and projects for Cassina, Café Craft, Biennale de Kortrijk... Nowadays, POOL works on a self-edited furnitures collection coming from craftsmanship, and keep going on their collaborations with Bensimon, Petite Friture and other editors. 2015 will be the year of new interior design projects and of artistic direction about art craft.

« The effect of the object, whether that be in the form or the function takes great importance in our work. In order to develop this we like to tap into the immediate environment of the story in which we want to become part of, without hierarchy, nor references, rare materials or popular reference as this reference serves for the understanding of the object. Through recognisable typologies and references we like to construct strong identities around our objects. Simple without being simplified. »

GRID...

ACCORDING TO ITS DESIGNERS :

« GRID is a piece for everyday life with a modular seat that can be composed differently to ensure comfort and that can be adapt to small or vast rooms. »

In 2015 POOL signed the GRID daybed, referring to the Bauhaus style and honouring the graphical talents of the duo.

In 2016 POOL develop the concept and bring GRID in an all too modular system, by creating basic modules: simple armchairs, corner armchairs, stool, and coffee table join the range with the two seats sofa. They can all be attached by simple fixations in order to create many configurations: 3 seats sofa, corner sofa, confident... to suit any envy.

Each element keeps the identity of the first daybed: a strapped wooden structure hold up by a black tubular steel feet; all mounted by geometrical textile or leather cushions, semi-circular and square.
